What is Natural Medicine?

Natural Medicines are all forms of medical practices that rely on the use of natural substance and energy to effect healing e.g. Herbs, Nutrition, Manual Medicine, Electro-Medicine, Spiritual and Emotional Therapies etc. This field of medicine is totally outside the mainstream of conventional allopathic medical practices.

The terms ALTERNATIVES and COMPLEMENTARY have always attracted some criticisms. The founding fathers of this council therefore chose the term NATURAL MEDICINE as more appropriate definition of our scope.

Natural medicine is the umbrella name for all forms of Medical care system outside the mainstream of orthodox medicine. It may be classified in Nigerian context as follow:

1. Traditional Indigenous Nigerian Medicine e.g. Traditional Bone Setters, Traditional Birth Attendant, Traditional Herbalist, e.t.c.
2. Alternative Medicine as recognized by the Medical and Dental Council Acts e.g. OSTEOPATHIC MEDICINE, HOMEOPATHIC MEDICINE, ACUPUNCTURE, CHIROPRACTIC MEDICINE AND NATUROPATHIC MEDICINE,
3. Natural complementary/ Supplementary Therapies, e.g. Shiatsu, Traditional Chinese Medicine, Acupressure, Nutritional Medicine, Yoga Herb, Meditation, Magnetherapy, Electro Homeopathy, Ayurvedic Medicine, Unani, Etc.

The World Health Organization (WHO) has supported, promoted and assisted the development of Traditional medicine in the bid to move African health Agenda forward, particularly for the less developed countries of the world; the philosophy was reinforced at the Alma Mata declaration of 1978 on primary health care.

Traditional Medicine Practitioners are of different categories as listed below but not limited to the following:-

- Traditional Birth attendant/ obstetrics and gynecology
- Traditional Surgeon
- Traditional Bone Setters/Orthopedic
- Traditional Ingredients selling/Pharmacy, Etc.

Considering the immense benefit of traditional Medicine, the African Union and the African Region WHO office decided to declare 31st August every year for the of African Traditional Medicine.

WHO further defined Traditional; Medicine as Including health diverse, health practice approaches, Knowledge, beliefs incorporating plants, animals or minerals based medicine, spiritual therapies, Manuel technique and exercises applied singularly or in combination to maintain well being, as well as to treat, diagnose or prevent illness.

In Nigeria the first national seminar on Traditional medicine was organized by the federal ministry of Health in 1979, which both conventional and Traditional medicine practitioner participated actively, after that land mark seminar various other programmes and project were also organized by both

Public and private institution to further develop Traditional Medicine and Alternatives Medicine (TM/CAM) which includes:

- The establishment of 1st state Traditional Medicine board in 1980
- The establishments of national investigation committee on traditional and Alternative Medicine.
- The Establishment of Nigeria Institute of Pharmaceutical Research development.
- The Establishments of Nigeria Natural Institute Medicine Development Agency in 1997.
- The establishments of the Centre for research and developments in Traditional Medicine in various Universities and developments in Nigeria including the National Open University of Nigerian.
- The signing of MOU with Nigerian institute medical research. The proposed Traditional Medicine Council bill and the National Assembly.
- The Creation of department of Traditional complementary and Alternative Medicine in the Ministry of Health.
